The Bahrain International Circuit stands out on the Formula 1 calendar due to its unique layout and night racing. Situated in Sakhir, the circuit is renowned for its modern amenities and challenging corners. The Bahrain Grand Prix serves as a spectacular opening event for the Formula 1 season.

The night race is made possible by its lighting, which produces a breathtaking spectacle beneath the starry sky. Featuring long straights and technical sections, the circuit offers thrilling races and strategic maneuvers. Bahrain's warm climate presents an additional challenge, with heat and tire wear being crucial factors during free practice, qualifying, and the race itself.

HOW DID THE RACE GO LAST YEAR?

THE RACE IN 2023

Max Verstappen kicked off the 2023 Formula 1 season with a dream start, securing victory at the Bahrain Grand Prix. The Red Bull team celebrated an impressive one-two finish, with Verstappen's teammate, Sergio Perez, claiming second place.

Verstappen maintained his lead from the beginning to the end of the race in Sakhir, initiating his title defense and pursuit of a third championship.

Ferrari's Charles Leclerc encountered trouble in the final stages, depriving him of a probable podium finish and crucial points. This setback allowed Aston Martin's Fernando Alonso to seize a podium position opportunistically, at the expense of Carlos Sainz from Ferrari. Lewis Hamilton rounded off the top five, driving for Mercedes.

The race's start was marked by dramatic moments, including a collision between Lance Stroll and his Aston Martin teammate Alonso, as well as Nico Hulkenberg's contact with Esteban Ocon.
