AUTODROMO ENZO E DINO FERRARI

ABOUT THE CIRCUIT

The Autodromo Internazionale Enzo e Dino Ferrari is a highly technical circuit with complex corners and a high tempo.

The circuit is 4.909 meters long and features 17 corners. The Italian circuit is one of the few with only one DRS zone. Imola is known for its succession of fast corners, especially the Tamburello, Villeneuve, and Tosa corners. These corners, combined with elevation changes on the circuit, demand a lot from the drivers and their cars. Drivers must find a perfect balance between speed and precision to maintain control and drive a good line.

Especially the Tamburello corner is known for multiple crashes - including the fatal crash of Ayrton Senna in 1994. Because Imola is raced counterclockwise, most corners are left turns.

HOW TO GET TO TRACK

The easiest way to get to the circuit is by car. From Bologna, it's about an hour's drive depending on traffic. Parking spaces cannot be reserved in advance, so the earlier you arrive, the greater the chance of finding a spot. Cash payment is required for parking at the entrance. In 2022, a day's parking cost approximately €10.

There are also plenty of taxi companies in the area that can take you to the circuit. Uber is also active there.

The train is also an option. The station is a 30-minute walk from the circuit. The journey from Bologna to Imola takes about 20 minutes and costs around €5 for a one-way ticket. You can easily purchase tickets through this website.
