GENERAL ADMISSION ZONES

The most affordable way to enjoy the Dutch Grand Prix is with General Admission tickets. With these tickets you will be able to walk around freely around the General Admission zones, however, you will not have a seat. You would have to arrive at the track relatively early before the sessions to get a good spot and it can get quite busy. However, with these tickets you will still be able to catch some of the action and soak in the atmosphere at the Grand Prix in Zandvoort.

In Zandvoort there are two General Admission zones. If you only have tickets to General Admission zone 1, you will not be able to access the second one, and vice versa. The price for the zones are about the same, however, with tickets to General Admission 1, you have a larger space to access.
